SGS does not, by performing Services or by issuing Documents, assume, abridge, abrogate or undertake to discharge any duty or responsibility of the client to any person or entity. SGS undertakes to perform only the Services agreed between SGS and its client. Neither the title of a Document or the nature of a commodity implies that any particular procedures have been followed or tests performed other than as specified in the Document(s). For evaluation of the results the method's precision statement applies, also, please refer to ASTM 3244-97(2002), IP367/93 and IP Standard (Test Methods) Appendix E, Standard Practice for Utilization of Test Data to Determine Conformance with Specifications or latest equivalent.
